PLANTING OF BLUEBERRY PLANTS

Blueberries do the best in a loose acid soil with plenty of moisture present or where water can be applied during the summer months, which is the berry producing season as well as the growing time for next year's crop. Plants six years and older will produce a large quantity of berries, and the plants will have berries from the first year on.

BEAUTIFUL AS HOME SHRUBBERY

In the spring the plants first are covered with a pinkish white, bell-shaped blossom which has a pleasant aroma. As the blossoms fade the graceful, light-green leaves develop and make a beautiful blend with the green, red, and then deep blue of the berries. In the autumn the leaves turn first to a light yellow and then a dark red before dropping for the winter. Plant this fruit producing, beautiful plant in your home garden and shrubbery planting.
